THE ART OF LETTER-WRITING

IMPORTANCE

The importance to any one of being able to write a good letter can scarcely be over-estimated. Letters enter into nearly all the relations of life—social, business, and intimate—and the ability to write just the right letter that circumstances require is a very great asset to any one. It is no exaggeration to say that many a successful business man or woman has laid the foundations of his or her fortune by a well-written letter. Many a happy man has won the woman he loves by a sensibly written proposal. Many a father or mother has guided and controlled a son and daughter, fighting the world at a distance perhaps, by letters that could influence them without irritating and annoying. Many a friend has helped and comforted one in trouble, soothed an invalid's pain, brought comfort to the bereaved, by being able to put into a letter some of the sympathy he or she feels. Indeed there is no limit to the importance of letters. In the small and the big things of life they play their part. Letters have launched nations into war and caused the death of millions. They are more potent than the spoken word, for they endure longer. At the same time they have become an almost indispensable part of the daily life. We must all write letters. We should all try to write good letters.

Points that should be observed in writing all letters are :

1. Lucidity—be sure that your letters fulfil the purpose for which you are writing.

THE ART OF LETTER-WRITING

2. Appropriateness—do not be formal when it is not necessary, nor facetious when it will not be appreciated, nor familiar when respect should be shown, nor verbose when brevity is better.

3. Do not attempt an elaborate literary style. Short sentences, clear and correct, are much better than flowing periods.

4. Show respect, for your correspondents by using suitable stationery, and always write in ink—not pencil

5. Write legibly. It is an insult to expect your correspondent to spend time in deciphering a letter you have not taken the trouble to write properly. Especially make the signature clear, and, if the information is of importance to your correspondent, intimate by it your sex and position—in the case of a lady, whether married or single.

6. Be careful to get such details as the address right, and use the correct beginning and conclusion. Make sure that your letter bears your own address correctly and is dated.

QUESTIONS OF TASTE

Your letters will indicate your taste just as much, or more, as your conversation or table manners. If a letter is sincerely written it will usually escape vulgarity, but there are many small matters which are important.

Do not write in the third person—"Mr. Jones would be glad &c."—except in the most formal notes.

Do not write on a postcard anything of an intimate nature. For instance, it would be in bad taste to acknowledge a gift by a postcard.

Do not address a lady you do not know as "Dear Mrs. ——" or an acquaintance as "Dear Tom," when this will be resented as familiarity. It should be "Dear Madam" and "Dear Sir."

Do not send typewritten or dictated letters when the circumstances require a personal note. Letters of congratulation, condolence, thanks for gifts or favours, &c., should not be typed.

THE ART OF LETTER-WRITING

Do not use slang or colloquialisms unless writing to an intimate friend.

Do not use contractions like "Compts." "Xmas."

Do not indulge in facetiousness or cheap witticisms unless you know they will be appreciated—or tolerated. They are apt to appear feeble and silly to any one not in the mood for them.

GRAMMAR: COMMON ERRORS

It is not desirable that letters should be written in pedantic English that sounds stilted and over-precise, but the grammar should be correct. It is not possible to deal with the subject here, but a list of errors frequently made even by well-educated people is given :

Who and whom are often misused. The first is the nominative case, or subject of the verb ; the second the objective case, or object of the verb. Compare—"The man who knew" and "The man whom he knew."

Its and it's. These are two distinct words. Its is the possessive pronoun, corresponding to his and her. Thus—"The dog lost its collar." It's stands for "it is"—"It's time to go."

Her's or their's should be hers or theirs—"A friend of hers."

"It is me" should read "It is I." The verb "to be" takes the nominative after as well as before it.

"Between you and I." "Me" should be used instead of "I" as all prepositions govern the objective case.

Plural instead of singular verbs are often wrongly used in such cases as "Neither Tom nor Bill were present."

"Was" should be used instead of "were." "The memory of those pleasant days were sweet." "Was sweet" is correct.

Pronouns are often wrongly used in the same way—"Any one could go if they wished." "Any one" is singular, and the sentence should read, "Any one could go if he or she wished."

Adjectives are often wrongly used as adverbs—"He walked slow" instead of "slowly." It is incorrect to say, "the largest of two." It should be "the larger of two," but "the largest of three (or more)."

The wrong prepositions are frequently used. The following are some of the most common cases :

different to	,	should be	different from averse to	" "		averse from opposite the door	" "		opposite to the door
caught up to him	" "		caught him up
oblivious to	" "		oblivious of immune to	" "		immune from

Words are frequently placed in the wrong order—"The two first students were awarded prizes" instead of "The first two."

Adjectives which are not applicable are used—"A tall head"—it is the man who is tall, not his head. "A clever play"—it is the author who is clever, not the play.

Words like "literally" and "absolutely" are often used when they are not necessary—"He literally jumped out of his chair." "He was absolutely astounded."

PUNCTUATION

The correct use of punctuation marks is important. They play their part in making composition clear and orderly, and prevent grammatical errors. Many people scatter them through their letters as though they had been shaken out of a pepper-box, but that gives a very slipshod appearance to a letter and may obscure the meaning. Not many points are required in letter-writing, and the following simple rules will be found adequate :

- (x) Use full-points at the end of all completed sentences, and to show contractions, as, Bart., e.g., M.P.
It is a good plan to use plenty of full stops, keeping the sentences short and clear.

THE ART OF LETTER-WRITING

- (2) Use semi-colons between sentences which are in some way dependent upon, or connected with, each other. Thus—"I cannot go on Friday; I shall be in Brighton."
- (3) Use a comma to show a break in the composition which is not strong enough to require a semi-colon or full-point. Avoid using too many commas—a very common fault—but they should be used in the following cases:
 - (a) between sentences connected with a conjunction—"Jack went to Brighton, and Will joined him there on Monday."
 - (b) to separate the clauses of a sentence—"Being very tired, Nell went to bed." "The enemy, surrounded on all sides, surrendered." "Oliver, with a prayer of thankfulness in his heart, returned home."
 - (c) between adjectives and adverbs used consecutively—"The large, shining, silver orb." "He walked slowly, sedately, with majestic mien."
 - (d) between words used in a series—"One, two, three, four." "She was told to buy bacon, eggs, cheese, and lard."
 - (e) with forms of address and exclamations—"I am, sir, your obedient servant." "Oh, dear!" "Oh, mother, where are you?"

These are the points in common use. Other points are the question mark (after all direct questions), the exclamation note (after exclamations), the dash (to show an abrupt break), and the colon (used at the end of a paragraph in such cases as (3) above).

Avoid the silly habit of sprinkling exclamation notes all over a letter and underlining words. It is only irritating—like the over-emphasis of a very gushing talker.

Care must be taken to use capital letters correctly. Use them always for all names, the pronoun I, the name of the Deity, for the first letter of a paragraph, after a full-point, exclamation note, and interrogation mark, and for titles like "The King," "The Duke," "The Colonel."

FORMS OF ADDRESS: CONCLUSIONS

It is important to get the formal beginning of a letter correct. The Christian name, as in "Dear Tom" or "My Dear Tom," should only be used if you are in the habit of calling the person addressed by his Christian name when you meet. In the same way "Dear Jones" should only be used when writing to a man you would address as "Jones." Ladies do not use this form at all, perhaps because they habitually address their friends by their Christian names on a much slighter acquaintance than is usual with men.

"Dear Mr. Robinson," "Dear Mrs. Green," or "Dear Miss Brown" are the correct forms in writing to acquaintances with whom you are not familiar enough to use either of the forms already mentioned. This should not be used however to any one to whom you are expected to pay deference, such as an employer.

For people who have titles there are special forms of address, a complete list of which is given at the end of this book.

In all other cases the recognized form is "Dear Sir" or "Dear Madam." This form should be used in writing to all strangers and for all business letters. "Dear Miss" is not used.

When writing to a Doctor or an Army Officer, the forms "Dear Doctor" and "Dear Colonel" are used, but these are familiar, and is equivalent to "Dear Jones." If the Doctor or officer is merely an acquaintance or unknown to you, the correct form is "Dear Sir."

"Sir" or "Madam" is sometimes used in strictly business letters or letters of a peremptory or unpleasant nature.

There is a choice of phrases for the conclusion of a letter, and more latitude can be allowed in the conclusion than in the form of address. The following are all in frequent use :

1. I have the honour to remain, Sir, Your most humble and obedient servant.
2. I am, Sir, your obedient servant.
3. I remain, Yours obediently.
4. Yours obediently.
5. Yours sincerely, or Sincerely yours.
6. Yours faithfully, or Faithfully yours.
7. Yours truly, or Truly yours.
(The word "very" can be used with any of the last three).
8. Yours affectionately, or devotedly.
9. Your affectionate daughter, or nephew, etc.
10. Your loving sister, etc.

Of these (1) is only used in official communications, such as letters from or to Government departments and officials, and to persons of rank. It is a survival from other times, as the humility and obedience of the writers of such letters are often far from being obvious.

(2) is only used in formal and business letters, and those addressed to any one in a position you are expected to respect, like an employer. Privates in the Army writing to an officer are expected to use this form.

(3) and (4) should only be used when writing to anyone to whom you owe obedience.

(5), (6) and (7). These six forms are equally applicable to all letters addressed to friends, acquaintances, and business correspondents. "Yours faithfully" is most commonly used. "Yours sincerely" is a little more cordial than "Yours truly."

(8), (9) and (10) are forms expressing varying degrees of affection and are of course only used to intimate friends and relatives.

THE ART OF LETTER-WRITING

THE ENVELOPE

There are one or two points to be observed in addressing the envelope. The accepted form is:

Mrs. T. H. Brown,
84 Marigold Road,
Streatham Hill,
London, S.W.16.

In addressing a married woman, the initials given should be those of the husband's Christian names. If these are not known, only the surname should be used—"Mrs. Brown." "Mrs. Alice Brown" is incorrect, but in the case of unmarried ladies the Christian name should be given—"Miss Vera Dare"—unless the lady is the eldest surviving daughter of the family when she should be addressed as "Miss Dare."

A man should be addressed as "Esquire"—"T. H. Brown, Esq."—except when you are writing to an inferior like a servant, or to a youth. Then the better form is "Mr. T. H. Brown." The initials should always be given. The latter form is used too for business letters like those written to a tradesman or solicitor in his business capacity.

When a gentleman has letters after his name these follow the word Esquire—"T. H. Brown, Esq., M.A."

LETTER HEADINGS

When note-paper with a printed heading is used, there are now a variety of styles in which the address can be printed, the printers using their discretion in the matter. When the address is written in, the custom is to put it in the top right-hand corner, thus:

94 Pope's Road,
E Merton, S.W.19.

For reasons of space, in the letters in this book the addresses have been printed in one line.

PREFACE

This work has been revised throughout and very largely rewritten to make it conform to modern standards. Taste and style in letter-writing change with the passing years, and a letter that would have been deemed correct or elegant thirty years ago might now strike the recipient as ludicrous. The models given have been chosen as likely to meet the needs of ordinary people on those occasions when they are likely to be in doubt as to the form a letter should take. It is not intended that they should necessarily be used word for word; they are models on which appropriate letters can be based. Care has been taken to make them such as ordinary modern people would use. They are not stilted or verbose—as letters were thirty years ago—but neither are they slangy and chaotic—as some ultra-modern letters are.

It should be pointed out that, under the heading "Business Letters," only correspondence that the writers would be called upon to write to bankers, landlords, tradesmen, their employers, etc., in a personal capacity are dealt with. The correspondence that they would conduct in business on behalf of their firm or as the head of the firm are dealt with separately in "The Business Letter-Writer."

In the main the models given deal with the formal or ceremonial occasions of life, as these are the times when guidance is most commonly wanted, but space has been found for letters of a more intimate nature. These are all letters which may be expected to present special difficulty.

To the ready writer—to the lover who pens passionate epistles every night, or the friend who scribbles sheets of intimate confidences to an absent chum—a letter-writer does not appeal. But to others, whose pens do not flow readily, and who have had but little practice in the art of writing, these models, it is hoped, will supply just that amount of suggestion and stimulus they need.

12. Declining more fully PORTSMOUTH.

Feb. 1st.

DEAR ———,

Thank you very much for thinking of me on Saturday. I should have liked to have joined your party immensely, but I am going to Ventnor that afternoon. My mother and sisters have already gone to Beaumaris, and on Wednesday our friends the Boscawens returned to Ventnor where I am joining them.

Although I fear it is very late, I must send you and your sister all the good old-fashioned New Year's wishes. With many thanks for your kind note,

I remain,

Your sincere friend,

HENRY ROSS.

13. Accepting an Invitation conditionally HAMPSTEAD.

DEAR MRS. THURGOOD,

I have been laid up with neuralgia for some days, and have not quite recovered from it yet. If I may, I will accept your kind invitation for Saturday next however, and, if my neuralgia has not gone before then, will be sure to let you know.

With kind regards to yourself and sister,

Yours very truly,

WALTER BOSSORS.

14. Invitation to a Bachelor Party KIDDERMINSTER.

Feb. 14th.

DEAR FELLOWS,

Yesterday I met Donovan and our four other old friends, who are down here for a few days; they are coming to dine with me to-morrow at seven. I know it is some years since you met them, and I shall be delighted if you will make one of our party.

Yours sincerely,

F. CUNNINGHAM.

HILL HOUSE, KIDDERMINSTER.

DEAR CUNNINGHAM,

Feb. 15th.

It will give me the greatest pleasure to dine with you to-morrow at seven. It is many years since I met the friends you mention, but I still have a vivid recollection of the many pleasant hours spent in their company.

Yours sincerely,

HARRY FELLOWS.

16. Invitation to a Friendly Dinner

DUNLAND PLACE, S.W.1.

DEAR HINDMARSH,

Oct. 1st.

I heard by the merest accident yesterday evening that you were in town. Will you come and dine with us to-morrow? You know our time—seven o'clock. I met J. F. and our old friend from the North yesterday. They will be here, and we hope to have a little music in the evening. All join in best regards.

Yours very sincerely,

17. Postponing an Invitation

THE BEECHES, SYDENHAM, S.E.26.

MY DEAR TOM,

Nov. 6th.

I know you will be grieved to hear that my mother is rather dangerously ill. She has a sharp attack of bronchitis and, the Doctor says, must be kept perfectly quiet. In the circumstances I am afraid I must postpone our dinner party fixed for the 17th, but I hope to give you better news shortly, and to fix up another date.

Yours sincerely,

18. Invitation to a Lady Friend to Lunch in a Restaurant

94 POTTER'S AVENUE, BALHAM, S.W.12.

DEAR MISS ASHTON,

May 14th.

I seem to see very little of you nowadays and practically never get an opportunity of talking to you.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

We have not met for over a month ! Would you come up to town and lunch with me one day next week ? We could go to the Petite where the lunch is really excellent, and sit and talk afterwards, or, if you prefer, go on to a matinee. Any day and any time will suit me. Do come.

Yours most sincerely,

A. T. HALLOWS.

19. Accepting an Invitation to a Week-end Party

14 MONTROSE PARK, W.2.

May 24th.

DEAR MRS. VERSTANE,

Thanks very much for your kind invitation to spend a week-end with you. Nothing could give me greater pleasure. I can catch the train you mention and will be with you on Friday. Again many thanks and kindest regards.

Yours sincerely,

N. M. THOMAS.

20. Declining Same

14 MONTROSE PARK, W.2.

May 24th.

DEAR MRS. VERSTANE,

It is awfully good of you to ask me to spend the week-end with you, and there is nothing I should have liked more, but unfortunately I shall not be able to get away from the office till very late Saturday night. I am bitterly disappointed, but I fear it can't be helped.

I hope you are all keeping well. Kindest regards.

Yours ever,

N. M. THOMAS.

May 24th.

DEAR MRS. VERSTANE,

I regret I am unable to accept your invitation for the 26th. It is very good of you to ask me, but I have so many engagements nowadays, and my work is making such increasing demands on my time, that I don't think it wise to add to them.

Yours faithfully,
N. M. THOMAS.

22. On Returning from a Visit

14 MONTROSE PARK, W.2.

• May 28th.

DEAR MRS. VERSTANE,

I reached town yesterday in good time and after a very comfortable journey. I enjoyed my stay with you immensely, and feel very much better for it. I always do—you have the perfect gift of making every one feel happy and comfortable. I have been thinking of you all day and wishing I were with you.

You will be interested to hear that on reaching Waterloo I ran into Mrs. Atkinson. She was most eager to hear all about you and your daughters, and bemoaned the fact that she never seemed to have time to visit her best friends now. I hope you will recognize yourself under that flattering description!

Please remember me to all my friends, and kindest regards to yourself,

Yours very sincerely,
N. M. THOMAS.

(2) LETTERS OF CONGRATULATION AND CONDOLENCE

23. To a Friend on securing an Appointment

14 ALBERT ROAD, BEDFORD.

Jan. 26th.

MY DEAR GEORGE,

I was delighted to hear your news and congratulate you most heartily on securing such an excellent appointment. You're a lucky dog, but no one deserves it better. It sounds the kind of job that is exactly suited to you, and you are sure to do well in it. I shall often be thinking of you and wishing you well, and I hope you won't quite forget the old and humble friends you are leaving behind.

Ever yours,

JACK.

24. To a Friend on his Birthday

"THE CHESTNUTS," CHESTER.

Feb. 19th.

DEAR TONY,

Just a few lines to wish you Many Happy Returns of your Birthday. The years are rolling by, old boy, and perhaps you would rather I did not remind you of their number, but I hope there are plenty more of them to come, and may they all be happy ones! May they grow happier and happier!

There will be a few of your old friends gathered together to-morrow, and be sure we shall be thinking of you, and talking of you, and drinking your health. Here's all the best to you, old boy! God bless you, and may we meet again soon!

Yours as ever,

MARTIN.

25. To a Lady Friend on her Birthday

"HOLLY LODGE," HYTHE.

March 4th.

DEAR MISS WARNER,

Please accept my very best wishes for your birthday. I hope it is going to be a very happy day and that I may be able to repeat my wishes on countless similar occasions to come.

I am sending along a few flowers which I hope may give you a little pleasure. They come with my sincerest good wishes for your health and happiness.

With kindest regards,

Yours most sincerely,
T. E. BEALE.

26. To a Friend on his approaching Marriage

404 THE DRIVE, BODMIN.

April 19th.

MY DEAR GEORGE,

I was delighted to get your letter, but of course not altogether surprised at the contents. I have seen how things have been trending for some time. I think you're a wise and lucky fellow. I congratulate you most heartily, and also Miss Leman. I'm sure you're admirably suited to each other, and I hope the future holds nothing but happiness for you both.

I should like to contribute to the joyousness of the occasion by some little gift. Perhaps you will let me know what would be most appreciated just now.

With all good wishes from

Your old friend,
HAROLD.

DEAR OLD WILL,

So the long-expected event has come off at last and you have a son and heir! Good luck to you! I've no doubt it's a bonny, bouncing boy—the finest ever seen. I know you proud fathers, and it won't surprise me a bit to hear the next time I see you that all your hats have got too small for you.

Seriously, though, old boy, I am delighted and congratulate you very heartily. I know how much you and May have wished for this, and how much happiness it will bring you. Please give my kindest regards to May and the son and heir. I hope both are progressing well and shall be glad to hear how they are going on. As soon as I may, I should like to call and congratulate all three of you in person.

Yours sincerely,

28. To a Friend who has been Knighted
40 MAYFAIR STREET, W.4.

June 28th.

DEAR SIR ALFRED,

I have just heard of the honour that has fallen to you, and I hasten to send you a word of congratulation. It is one you have richly deserved, and I know of no one more fitted to bear it and do it credit. I know you have not sought it, and possibly did not desire it, but I hope it has given you pleasure. It should do, for it is but a just recognition of services well and truly rendered. It will also give you added opportunities of public usefulness, and I know you will appreciate that. I hope you will now give serious consideration to a matter I have often urged upon you—your standing for Parliament. Men like you are badly needed there.

Please give my kindest regards to Lady Merlin. Isn't she proud of you?

Your sincere friend,
H. L. SHEEN.

HAMPTON ROAD, Lewes.

April 4th.

MY DEAR JOHN,

I cannot tell you how deeply grieved I was to hear your sad news. Words are so feeble and futile at a time like this, but I feel I must send you a few lines to tell you how we feel for you and that we shall be thinking of you and praying for you. I hope you have been able to find some consolation in the knowledge that your dear wife was in every act, deed, and word a true Christian. How grateful you must have felt to have seen her so resigned and happy in the thought that, although her loss would cast a shadow on your life on earth, you would meet her hereafter in the better world where no trouble or sorrow is to be found! She was good in every acceptance of the term; her charities (so unostentatiously dispensed), her cheerful willingness to relieve any real distress, her talents and charm, endeared her to all. May God help you and send you comfort in His own way, and lead you to find the consolation that time brings for all earthly sorrows.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

As soon as you feel equal to the journey, we hope you will come to us, and stay as long as you feel inclined. There is healing in Nature, you know, and a stay here might help you.

My wife unites with me in kindest regards and truest sympathy.

Yours most truly, _____

30. To a Lady Friend on the Death of her Mother

84 HILLY STREET, S.E.23.

July 1st.

DEAR MARION,

I know how deeply you must feel the death of your dear mother—the loneliness and regrets, and the sense of irreparable loss. It comes to all in time, but its poignancy is none the less on that account.

Don't think me cruel if I say that death is not all sadness. Your mother's life was over. It was a long, useful, honourable life, full of fragrant memories, and her time for rest had come. For her it is better so. For you who are left, there is the bitterness of parting, the loneliness, the loss, but through it all you have your memories of her, of her love and example and help, and by keeping them always before you perhaps you will not miss her quite so much.

I know you are bearing up bravely, and I hope your health has not suffered.

Yours very sincerely,
PERCY.

31. To a Lady Friend on the Death of a Child

WESTGATE-ON-SEA.

August 3rd.

DEAR MRS. WEST,

I was deeply grieved to hear of your sad loss. I know it must be a terrible blow to you and to Jack. Dear little Elsie! It seems horrible to think of such a bonny, happy little mite suddenly taken away, but the one hope of consolation lies in the thought that, in some way that we are not permitted to understand, it is best for her. She has been taken to a higher happiness elsewhere.

I am writing to Jack, and I can only pray that such comfort and consolation as is possible to you may be yours.

Believe me, yours very sincerely,
S. M. KEENE.

32. To a Friend whose Brother is dangerously ill

ASHSTEAD.

Nov. 19th.

MY DEAR ALLEN,

Every morning we listen for the post with the greatest anxiety, trusting that it will bring us better news of your brother. We are continually thinking of you in this critical and dangerous hour and pray for you and your brother. I trust you have not given up hope. Remember that He on Whom we call is mighty to save, and we see many around us who have recovered from illnesses as severe as your brother's. We hope most sincerely you will soon be able to send us better news. Meanwhile take care of yourself as much as you can.

33. To a Friend who has met with a Disappointment

"MALBURY," PONTEFRACT.

Sept. 5th.

DEAR HAROLD,

I was extremely sorry to hear of your disappointment. It is very hard luck. You had worked hard and deserved success, and no one can do more. However, I know you have too much grit to let a thing like this unduly depress you. Wipe out all thought of ~~it~~ and have another try—that's the only sensible thing to do. You know what some learned old johnnie said—if it wasn't Shakespeare, it was some one just like him—about it not being in our "power to command success, but we'll do more; we'll deserve it." But I've no doubt that next time you'll do even better still; you'll do both—deserve it and get it.

Are you doing anything to-morrow night? If not, give me a ring, and we might fix up a night out together.

Yours ever,

BILL.

"THE TOWERS," HEREFORD.
Oct. 10th.

DEAR UNCLE,

I was walking down the High Street the other day when I happened to see in a bookseller's shop this copy of the Anatomy of Melancholy. It struck me as a particularly nice copy, and I at once thought of you, as I know how you like to have your favourite works in these old bindings. So I decided to secure it, and send it herewith. I hope you will be pleased with it.

I am getting on pretty well now in the office, but promotion is slow, and I often feel I could do so much better if only I had a little capital. There are so many openings nowadays for young men, but they all need capital.

I hope you have been keeping well, and have had no return of the gout.

DEAR MR. MACDONALD,

My wife and I are going to Edinburgh for a rather prolonged stay, as I have business there that will keep me several months. I know you lived there for many years, and I am wondering if you would care to give us one or two introductions.

I shall be a good deal occupied, and my wife may feel lonely at times. If she knew one or two people on whom she could call for a friendly chat now and again, it would be very pleasant for her. And I have a particular reason for wishing to meet Canon —, whom, I think, you used to know well.

If there is any commission we can execute for you while we are up North, please let me know.

The bearer of this note is a young man in whom I am very much interested. I want to help him if I can. He is out of a berth at present, and I thought perhaps

DEAR MISS WINTER,

I feel it is rather impertinent of me to write and ask you a favour, as our acquaintance is so slight, but I hope you will forgive that. My wife and I want to go to Torquay for a few weeks. I know you have spent a good deal of time there, and I shall be very much obliged if you will give me any information about suitable boarding houses and hotels. "MELROSE," ST. IVES.

*The Rev. J. Allen, M.A.,
The Vicarage, Charlton.*

April 15th.

DEAR SIR,

I must begin by offering very sincere apologies for writing to you, a perfect stranger, and asking a favour, but my excuse must be that I do not know any one who could give me the information I want except yourself.

I am anxious to get in communication with a man named James Wilson. He was at one time in my service, but I have lost sight of him for several years. I know he came from Charlton, and possibly he or his people are living there now and are parishioners of yours. If you know of any people of the name living in your parish, and would put me in touch with them, I shall be extremely obliged to you. I may add that my business with James Wilson would be to his advantage. I think he would now be about fifty years of age, and he served for a number of years in the Army.

I enclose a stamped envelope, and beg to remain,

Yours sincerely,

S. S. PAUL (COL.).

56. Asking Advice as to a Career

86 SANDELL LANE, HALIFAX.

March 16th.

DEAR MR. ASHTON,

I have been giving much thought lately to starting my boy in life, and am now considering making him a Chartered Accountant. If you have time to write me, I should very much like to hear your views on the subject, and also any information you could give me as to what steps I should take to get him started, and the probable cost of training. I understand he would have to be articled to a practising Chartered Accountant.

He is 17 now and has passed the London Matriculation examination. He has always done very well in mathematics, and thinks he would like the work of an accountant.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

I could pay a moderate sum as a premium—say, a hundred pounds.

I hope I am not troubling you too much, but I shall be very grateful for your advice. These are anxious and worrying times for fathers.

Yours very sincerely,
P. A. LEEMING.

COURTSHIP AND MARRIAGE

58. Proposal of Marriage in Formal Terms

BRAINTREE, ESSEX.

May 2nd.

DEAR MISS JOHNSTONE,

As no opportunity has presented itself of speaking to you lately alone, I venture to address you by letter, and I assure you my happiness greatly depends on the reply with which you may deign to favour me.

I love you, dear Miss Johnstone, very sincerely, and, if you can return my affection and become my wife, I shall consider myself the most fortunate of men.

As I think you know, my means are such as to make it possible for me to give you a comfortable home, and I hope you will believe me when I say that, if I am ever so happy as to call you my wife, my one care will be to try to make your life as happy as it should be. I am awaiting your reply most anxiously and beg you not to keep me in suspense.

I remain, dear Miss Johnstone,

Yours very truly,

59. Proposal from a Middle-aged Gentleman

Jan. 1st.

DEAR ROSIE,

On returning home yesterday afternoon, and reflecting alone on the pleasant morning we had passed, I was more than ever impressed with my stupidity in going on with my present solitary existence. Will you take pity on me and break this monotonous life by coming to share it with me?

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

I have loved you fondly and long ; your parents are my intimate friends ; they know my private character ; and I would do all in my power to make you happy. Won't you accept me as your husband ?

Believe me,

Ever yours devotedly,

CHARLES BYERS.

60. Proposal from a Widower

"HILL CREST," KEIGHLEY.

Nov. 19th.

DEAR MISS LINDSAY,

I am writing to make a proposal which may astonish you at first, but to which I hope you will give your very serious consideration.

You know how I am situated. You know how lonely I am. You know how badly my home needs a mistress and how much my children want a mother. I have always admired you. I have a very deep and sincere affection for you, and it is because I know your warm heart and how it loves to make people happy that I am venturing to ask you if you could ever care enough for me to come and share my life and home as my wife.

I would do all in my power to make you happy, and would make every arrangement possible for your comfort. Please think about it carefully, dear Miss Lindsay, and if you can say "Yes" I shall regard myself as the happiest and most fortunate man alive.

Believe me to be,

Yours ever most devotedly,

61. Proposal from a Young Man passionately in Love

94 POPE'S ROAD, MERTON, S.W.19.

Jan. 4th.

DEAR MISS WHITE,

You will perhaps be surprised to get a letter from me after seeing me only yesterday, but I feel I must write. I have been trying for weeks to put into words what I am now writing, but I despaired of ever getting an opportunity. It is so difficult to get you to myself for more than a few minutes, and even then you seem determined to prevent my saying anything serious.

Rosie, I love you passionately—have loved you from the very first moment I saw you. I think you must know it, for it has been quite impossible for me to conceal it. There is not another woman to compare with you—there never can be for me. I love everything about you. I love your dear blue eyes, your Cupid lips, your hair, your tiny ears. I love your beautiful hands, so small and warm and soft. I love your walk, your voice. I love above all your sweet, sunny nature, and your baby ways, and warm, innocent heart. Oh, Rosie, I love you—just you, and if you will not be my wife I feel that there can be nothing in life worth living for!

Perhaps if I was a more unselfish man I should not ask you. I know I am still poor and have my way to make in the world, and it might be years before we could marry, but I feel that, if only you love me as I love you, nothing else can matter. And I would work hard. With you to work for, I must make a fortune soon, and we would have such a glorious time together.

I know I am not worthy of you. What man could be? But, if only you will say "Yes," I would try so hard to be all that you would like me to be. I could not ask greater happiness than being allowed to serve you and work for you and trying to make you happy always.

Rosie—dear—do say "Yes." Write to me at once, and, if it is "Yes," I will come round and try to tell you all the hundreds of things I can't say here.

Believe me, now and always,

Your most devoted,

H. L. SMITH.

62. To the Father of the Lady you wish to Marry

94 POPE'S ROAD, MERTON, S.W.19.

Jan. 8th.

DEAR MR. WHITE,

I am writing to tell you your daughter Rosie and I love each other and wish to be married. I know you do not know me very well, but I hope all you do know of me is to my credit and will make you regard me favourably as a son-in-law.

I am twenty-four years of age, and am at present employed as a clerk by the — Insurance Company, Ltd. My salary is £120 a year, but I get yearly increases of £15, and besides there are chances of promotion to better-paid positions, one of which I hope to obtain. I do not, of course, expect to marry until my salary is considerably higher, but Rosie assures me she is willing to wait, and I mean to work very hard to improve my position.

I know I ought to have spoken to you before I asked Rosie, but circumstances were too much for me. I may add that my people know Rosie well and are very fond of her and would give her a warm welcome.

I shall be pleased to give you any further information you want, and I hope you will understand how much your favourable reply to this letter will mean to me and also to your daughter.

Yours very sincerely,
H. L. SMITH.

"IVY LODGE," MERTON, S.W.19.

Jan. 10th.

DEAR MR. SMITH,

Your letter of the 8th inst. surprised me very much. I should have preferred that you had written to me before speaking to Rosie. As it is, you put me in a very difficult position if I wished to say "No." Certainly I could not consent to a marriage on your present salary, which is quite inadequate, but you have reasonable prospects, and I know you to be a steady and sensible young fellow, and your people highly respected, so I do not think I need thwart my daughter's wishes, which, she tells me, would break her heart.

However, before I consent to a formal engagement, I would like to have a talk with you. Can you come and see me on Wednesday, about seven o'clock?

Yours faithfully,
B. WHITE.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

64. Reply (unfavourable)

"IVY LODGE," MERTON, S.W.19.

Jan. 10th.

DEAR MR. SMITH,

Your letter of the 8th inst. surprised me very much. Certainly you ought to have written to me before you spoke to Rosie on such a matter. I most strongly object to long engagements, and you are not in a position to think of marriage for many years ~~to~~ come. Rosie is only a child and does not know her own mind, and it would be very unfair of you to tie her down to wait for you through all the best years of her life.

I have nothing against you personally, and, if in a few years' time you care to renew your request, I might give a different answer. In the meantime I must withhold my consent, and I trust, as a man of honour, you will not pursue the matter further with Rosie. It would only cause her unhappiness.

Yours faithfully,

B. WHITE.

65. Breaking off an Engagement

281 MALVERN AVENUE, NEWCASTLE.

Nov. 15th.

MY DEAR LAURA,

I have decided to write what is a very difficult and painful letter to me. If it is also painful to you, I am very sorry, but I don't think it will be.

We have now been engaged for over a year, and it is idle for us to pretend that it has been a success. Neither of us has been happy, and the quarrel of last night—only one of many, unfortunately—has convinced me that we made a mistake in thinking we cared for each other sufficiently to marry. I do not blame you in the least. No doubt I am to blame, but I think it is obvious that we could never live happily together, and the only wise thing to do is to recognize our mistake before it is too late. The truth is we are two strong-willed persons, whose tastes are constantly in conflict, and who only irritate and jar upon each other.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

I am therefore asking you to release me from my engagement. I am very, very sorry to have led you into this position, and for all the pain and embarrassment it must cause you, but I feel that it is the only honest course.

I hope we shall part good friends—just two friends with the mutual recognition that they do not wish to be more than friends. I hope too you will not return my presents. I should like you to keep them, and if you will accept the engagement ring as a parting gift and wear it on another finger I shall feel you do not bear me any ill-will.

Yours very sincerely,

GEORGE.

66. From a Father to his Son's Fiancée

"MELROSE," FAVERSHAM.

April 28th.

DEAR MISS DILLON,

Percy has just told us the news, and I hasten to write and tell you how delighted we are. I think he's a very lucky fellow to have won such a charming wife. I'm sure you will make him happy, and, on his side, he's not a bad fellow. He is worth caring for. He appears to be very much in love, and it isn't much good trying to talk sensibly to a man in that condition, but I hope you will both think seriously about what you are doing. It means so much to you. You can be very happy, and a delightful time lies before you, if only you start right. Try to know your husband, to study him and please him and make him happy, and he'll respond by doing the same by you. At least, I hope he will.

Forgive your new father, my dear, for starting off with a sermon. It is only that I am so anxious you should not miss any of the delights within your reach. We are all anxious to welcome you here. My wife is writing to ask you to come and stay, and I hope you will. We must get to know each other better.

Percy wants me to send his love, but I don't think I need trouble about that.

My love to you.

Yours affectionately,

H. S. STEELE.

67. Requesting Friend to act as Best Man

"TUFNALL," DUNDEE.

Feb. 24th.

MY DEAR FRANK,

My wedding with Mabel is fixed for next month—March 21st—and I am writing to ask if you would act as my "best man" on the great occasion. I have no brother or male relative who would naturally fill the rôle, and I would rather have you than any one. We are old chums—I'm sure you'll like to see me through this ordeal. No one could do it better, or look the part better. Mabel says your distinguished appearance will give quite a tone to the ceremony! It won't be an arduous job. There will only be two bridesmaids, and it will be very quiet. The ceremony will be at St. Jude's, and there will be an informal reception after at Mabel's house.

Yours ever,
GEORGE.

68. Accepting

"HOLMWOOD," DUNDEE.

Feb. 26th.

MY DEAR GEORGE,

I shall be delighted to act as your best man at the happy event next month. I'll see you safely through—you leave it to me. Tell Mabel she's quite mistaken. No one looks at the best man at a wedding. It is the bride who is on show, and I'm sure she'll do her part well.

What shall I give you as a wedding present? I thought of a dinner service? Would you like that, or has somebody already bagged it?

Kindest regards to you both,

Yours sincerely,
FRANK.

69. Declining

"HOLMWOOD," DUNDEE.

Feb. 26th.

MY DEAR GEORGE,

It is very good of you to ask me to be your best man, and, if circumstances had been different, I should have been delighted, but, as it is, I am afraid I must ask you to excuse me. Please don't be hurt ! I am sure the ceremony will be a great success, and one of your numerous friends will make a much better best man than I should. The truth is I am feeling so worried and unsettled just now that I don't feel I can undertake an engagement of that kind. I know you will understand. Please give my kindest regards to Mabel. I appreciate her very flattering remark, and I wish you both the very best of luck and all possible happiness.

I am sending along a little piece of silver in a few days which I hope you and Mabel will like.

Yours sincerely,

FRANK.

DEAR SIR,

I should be glad to know if you will let me have

72. To Solicitors in reply to a Claim for Damages

386 KELLY ROAD, PENGE, S.E.20.

March 1st.

Messrs. West & Sons

DEAR SIRS,

I am in receipt of your letter of the 10th inst.
respecting Mr. Mill's claim, to which I reply without prejudice.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

I do not admit that Mr. Mills has any claim upon me, but I have already told him that, to settle the matter, I am willing to make him a present of a small sum as compensation for the loss he appears to have suffered. I cannot consider any amount like £70. Mr. Mills only suffered bruises and lost two days' employment, and I consider £5 would be generous compensation. I have offered him this sum, and the offer is still open, if he accepts it at once. If he does not accept, any further communications should be addressed to my solicitors, Messrs. — and —, Chancery Lane, W.C.2.

I must refuse to pay your costs, as I cannot see there was any necessity for Mr. Mills to consult you.

Yours faithfully,

T. T. VINE.

74. To a Tailor, complaining of Goods sent

89 HAROLD ROAD, CHEAM.

Sept. 3rd.

Mr. S. T. Duncan.

DEAR SIR,

I duly received the suit ordered from you but am very disappointed with it. It is not satisfactory in any respect. The material does not appear to be of the same quality as the pattern I chose. It is thinner, and lighter in colour. The coat hangs badly, and the collar rides up in the neck, while the trousers are quite two inches too short—they are unwearable.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

I must decline to accept such bad work. It is very annoying, as I particularly wanted the suit, and I shall be glad to hear by return what you propose to do.

Yours truly,
G. S. MORE.

75. To a Builder, complaining of Overcharges
89 HAROLD ROAD, CHEAM.
May 8th.

Messrs. Brown & Co.,
High Street, Surbiton.

DEAR SIR,

I have received your account for repairs done to this house, and am astonished at some of your charges. I consider them most unreasonable. The items of £17 for replacing slates on roof and £7 for new gate-post strike me as outrageous. I know exactly how many hours your men were here, and can estimate the cost of the material that was necessary, so I know within a little what would be a fair price.

I may as well say at once that I have no intention of paying a charge like this, and beg you to give the matter your further consideration. Possibly a mistake has been made by some one in your office.

Yours faithfully,
G. S. MORE.

76. To a Tradesman, asking for Time to pay Bill
89 HAROLD ROAD, CHEAM.
April 28th.

Mr. V. Brown,
Church Street, Kingston.

DEAR SIR,

I am sorry you should think it necessary to write me such an unpleasant and peremptory letter about your A/c. I have always settled your bills promptly in the past, and I think you might have shown me a little more courtesy and consideration.

I cannot settle immediately, as you demand, but I have every confidence of letting you have a cheque in full settlement before the end of next month. Believe me, you will not get your money any sooner by "consulting your solicitors" or "taking proceedings." I have much larger amounts owing to me than the sum that is due to you, and as soon as I am able to collect them I will pay your A/c.

Yours faithfully,
G. S. MORE.

77. Protesting against Delay in Delivering Goods

89 HAROLD ROAD, CHEAM.

June 1st.

*Messrs. Adams & Sayers,
The Hill, Wimbledon, S.W.*

DEAR SIRs,

I must again protest against the delay in delivering the plants ordered from you on May 2nd. You promised to dispatch them first by May 10th, and then by the 21st. It is now ten days after that date, and still the plants have not come.

If you are not able to dispatch immediately, will you please cancel the order? The plants will be of no use to me after the 5th inst. and I must decline to accept delivery after that date.

I have dealt with you now for a number of years and cannot understand why you treat a regular customer in this negligent and discourteous way.

Yours truly,
G. S. MORE.

(2) APPLICATIONS FOR EMPLOYMENT

(Note—All these letters naturally divide themselves into five parts—application for the post, qualifications for it, experience, personal details, references. They should always be made as concise as possible, and be business-like in tone. Copies of testimonials, &c., should be sent—not the originals).

78. From a Butler

PRAETLAND TERRACE, W.I.

SIR,

March 1st.

In reply to your advertisement in yesterday's Times for a butler I beg to apply for the situation.

For six years and a half I lived with the late General Aslett in that capacity, only being dismissed on his death.

I enclose copies of testimonials from two previous employers, which speak as to my abilities and character.

I am unmarried, 5ft. 10in. in height, and thirty-eight years of age.

I shall be happy to give you any further information you require, and to wait upon you at any time, and I beg to assure you, sir, that, if I am engaged, I will do my best to give you every satisfaction.

I remain, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

JAMES FIELD.

79. From a Gardener

SNOWDROP COTTAGE, BATTLE.

SIR,

June 1st.

I understand that there will be a vacancy shortly in your establishment for a gardener, and I respectfully beg to apply for the place. From boyhood I have been under the best of gardeners. I served my apprenticeship with —, and for the last four years have been with —.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

I am twenty-eight years of age, unmarried, and a teetotaler. If engaged by you, I would do my very best to give you satisfaction.

I enclose copies of two testimonials and beg to remain, Sir,

Yours obediently,
E. GARDNER.

rom a Chauffeur

PERTH MEWS, OXFORD.

Dec. 19th.

DEAR SIR,

I have been told by Mr. H. Moore that you are in need of a chauffeur, and he has advised me to apply for the post.

I have had twelve years' experience of driving cars, and have never had a serious accident nor had my licence endorsed. I am competent to do running repairs.

I was with General —, of —, for two years, and H. T. Bean, Esq., of —, for four years. Both of these gentlemen will give me an excellent character.

I am thirty-one years of age, married, with one child, and a total abstainer.

Trusting you will be able to give favourable consideration to this application,

I remain, Sir,
Yours obediently,
VICTOR YOUNG.

81. From a Clerk

814 NORTH ROAD, HAMMERSMITH, W.6.

Jan. 19th.

Messrs. —

DEAR SIRS,

I beg to apply for the post of ledger clerk advertised in to-day's Times.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

I have had sixteen years' experience in London business houses and am fully conversant with all the duties of the post. I have a sound knowledge of book-keeping, and am quick and accurate at figures. I also know French and German and can conduct correspondence in both languages.

For the last five years I have been with Messrs. —, of —, and before that I was with Messrs. —, of —, for nine years. I am thirty years of age.

I enclose copies of testimonials both as to character and ability. I am free to start at any time, and I am asking a salary of £300 a year.

Should you be pleased to appoint me, no effort should be wanting on my part to give you satisfaction.

I remain,

Yours obediently,

H. L. VINE.

82. From a Private Secretary

8 THE LINDENS, HORNSEY, N.8.

March 14th.

SIR,

In reply to your advt. in to-day's Morning Post for a Private Secretary, I beg to offer my services.

I am an expert shorthand-typist, my speeds being 130/50. I am able to write French fluently, and know some Spanish. I was trained by the — School, and thoroughly understand filing, indexing, dealing with correspondence, and all the routine work of a secretary. I was educated at — School and passed the London University Matriculation examination when I was sixteen.

I have had five years' experience—two years with my present employer, Mr. —, of —, and three years with Mrs. —, of —. Both of them will answer any inquiries you wish to make as to my abilities and character.

I am twenty-two years of age.

Hoping you will give this application favourable consideration,

I beg to remain,

Yours obediently,

FRANK S. VASSELL.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

83. From a Commercial Traveller

49 FORMBY AVENUE, RETFORD.

April 5th.

Messrs. Peile & Sons.

DEAR SIRs,

I should be glad if you would consider my claims for the next vacancy among your representatives.

For the last six years I have been the Northern representative of Messrs. — and Co., of —, and have now a good connection among grocers, oilmen, and general stores throughout Yorkshire and the North generally. I have been handling exactly the class of goods you produce, and I am sure, if you could see your way to employing me, I could introduce a very profitable trade.

My reason for wishing to leave Messrs. — is that they do not offer me any scope for improving my position with them.

I am thirty-four years of age, a keen worker, and anxious to get a chance of developing what I know is a very sound connection.

If you are able to consider this application favourably, I shall be happy to call upon you at any time, and to furnish all particulars as to my turnover, &c.

Yours faithfully,

M. S. WHITE.

84. From a Father applying for Situation for his Son

"THE LAURELS," MITRE ROAD, TIVERTON.

Sept. 9th.

Messrs. Castle & Co., Ltd.

DEAR SIRs,

I wish to apprentice my son as an engineer, and shall be very much obliged if you will let me know whether you are open to take another apprentice shortly.

My son is now sixteen and will be leaving the — Grammar School at the end of this term. He is a strong, healthy lad, and has always done very well at school. Engineering is his own choice as a career, and I think you would find him a very satisfactory apprentice.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER WRITER

If you can entertain the proposal, I should be glad to come and talk the matter over with you.

Yours faithfully,

B. V. PATON.

85. Soliciting Influence

94 ISAAC ROAD, HIGHGATE, N.6.

July 11th.

DEAR SIR,

My engagement with Messrs. — came to an end last week, as they have closed the department in which I was employed. I am very anxious to obtain another position as soon as possible, and I should esteem it a very great favour if you could give me any introductions to firms likely to need my services, or would speak for me to any of your friends.

You know my work at Messrs. —, and I think they always thought well of me. They have given me an excellent reference, and speak in high terms of my ability and knowledge of the boot trade. I was with them for nine years.

I am thirty-three years of age, married, with three children, so you will understand I cannot afford to be long out of work, and I shall be very grateful for any assistance you can give me in obtaining a berth.

I beg to remain,

Yours obediently,

MILES POWLE.

86. Asking for a Reference

84 BALDREY LANE, CLAPHAM, S.W.4.

Nov. 9th.

DEAR SIR,

I have applied to Messrs. —, of —, and have taken the liberty of giving your name as a reference. Apart from the incident that led to my leaving you, I think you were always satisfied with my work while I was with you, and have nothing against my character. I hope therefore you will say all you can in my favour.

Yours faithfully,

T. S. HENRY.

(3) LETTERS TO SERVANTS. REFERENCES

87. Replying to an Application for a Situation

"MERLE," BOXLEY.

June 2nd.

DEAR MR. BROWN,

In reference to your reply to my advertisement for a gardener, I should be obliged if you would let me know how long you were with Sir A. Mine, and why you left him.

You would have charge here of the flower gardens of about three quarters of an acre, a tennis lawn, vegetable garden, and a small hot-house. The salary offered is — a year, and there is a cottage.

I am writing to the references you gave, and, if the replies prove satisfactory, I will fix a day for you to come and see me. I will pay your expenses from Berkhamstead.

Yours faithfully,

88. Refusing an Application for a Situation

"MERLE," BOXLEY.

June 14th.

DEAR MR. BROWN,

I am obliged for your letter of the 10th. I have now heard from your references, and I am afraid your experience has not been of the kind to make you a suitable man for this post. I need not therefore trouble you to come to see me.

Yours faithfully,

Mr. H. L. Bright is obliged to Mr. Brown for his letter of the 10th and regrets that he has no vacancy for a gardener at present.

90. Engaging a Servant

214 CEDARS ROAD, MELTON.

Sept. 1st.

DEAR MISS MOORE,

I have now taken up your references, and, as they are quite satisfactory, I shall be glad if you will arrange to start your duties as governess to my children as soon as possible. Can you come in on Monday next?

I hope you will be comfortable here, and may find your work with my children pleasant.

Yours faithfully,

V. BOULTER.

91. Dismissing a Servant

2 ATLAS AVENUE, W.I.

May 19th.

DEAR BROWN,

As you seem to have grown tired of your work here and discontented with your position, I think it will be best for us both if you make a change.

You will please accept this letter as a formal month's notice to terminate your engagement which will come to an end on June 19th.

If you wish to give my name as a reference, you are at liberty to do so, and I will say what I can in your favour.

Yours faithfully,

S. S. T. MAS.

92. Recommending a Servant

"MERLE," BOXLEY

June 4th.

Mr. H. L. Bright has pleasure in recommending Mr. W. Smith as a chauffeur-gardener. He has been a steady and trustworthy servant in every respect, and is well up in his duties, both as chauffeur and gardener. He is leaving of his own accord.

93. Inquiring for References

4 THURLE PARK, ESHER.

Oct. 9th.

Col. W. James.

DEAR SIR,

Mr. B. Loam has applied to me for a post as chauffeur-gardener and has given your name as a reference. He tells me he was employed by you in a similar capacity for four years.

I shall be very much obliged if you will let me know if this is true and if you were satisfied with him. Is he a good worker? Sober and trustworthy? Is he a careful driver and able to do small repairs? I shall be grateful for any information you can give me, and enclose stamped addressed envelope.

I beg to remain,

Yours faithfully,

M. S. BEALE.

94. Giving favourable Reference

"FENELLA," BODMIN.

Oct. 10th.

M. S. Beale, Esq.

DEAR SIR,

In reply to your letter of the 9th inst., Benjamin Loam was with me as chauffeur-gardener for four years and gave complete satisfaction. He is sober and trustworthy, hard-working, and thoroughly understands his work. He kept my car in good order all the time and never had an accident. He left me of his own accord, and I was sorry to lose him.

Yours faithfully,

W. JAMES.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

95. Giving qualified Reference

"FENELLA," BODMIN.

Oct. 10th.

M. S. Beale, Esq.

DEAR SIR,

In reply to your letter of the 9th inst., Benjamin Loam was certainly with me for four years as chauffeur-gardener, and that fact must be a recommendation in itself. He is sober and thoroughly understands motor-cars, but I had repeatedly to complain of what I considered reckless driving, while as a gardener he was neither expert nor industrious. However, as I put up with him for four years, you may take it that his good points outweigh his bad ones. If you keep a strict hand on him from the beginning, he may do very much better in a new place.

Yours faithfully,

W. JAMES.

96. Refusing a Reference

"FENELLA," BODMIN.

Oct. 10th.

M. S. Beale, Esq.

DEAR SIR,

Certainly Loam was employed by me as a chauffeur-gardener, but at the end of six weeks I summarily dismissed him. Perhaps the best answer I can give to your letter is to say that I am amazed he should have given you my name as a reference.

Yours truly,

W. JAMES.

(4) LANDLORD AND TENANT. HOUSE PROPERTY

97. To a Landlord, asking for Repairs to be done
"THE NOOK," WORCESTER.

Feb. 19th.

DEAR SIR,

I should like to call your attention to the state of the decorations in this house, and hope you will now see your way to having it thoroughly done up. We have been here now four years, during which time nothing has been done to the place, and it is not reasonable to expect us to wait any longer.

In the first place the repairs needed to the roof are now urgent. The rain comes through in three places, and is not only a great inconvenience to us, but is damaging your property.

All the rooms require whitewashing and re-papering, and all except the bedrooms need re-painting. The outside of the house also is in a bad condition.

I shall be obliged if you will give the matter your immediate attention, as we should like to get the house cleaned up before the fine weather comes.

Yours faithfully,

T. SMITH.

98. From Landlord, in Reply

86 HORNSEY AVENUE, N.9.

Feb. 21st.

DEAR SIR,

I have received your letter of the 19th, and have given instructions for my builder to inspect your roof and let me know what repairs are necessary.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

In regard to the decorations, I cannot do anything this year. The house was thoroughly and expensively done up inside and out when you entered upon your tenancy, and I do not think it reasonable to expect me to do anything more till your agreement expires next year.

Yours truly,
A. B. SELLER.

99. From Tenant, in Reply

"THE NOOK," WORCESTER.
Feb. 23rd.

DEAR SIR,

Your letter of the 21st received. I note you are going to repair the roof, but I am amazed at your refusal to do anything in the way of decorations. Your idea that such work as whitewashing ceilings should be done only once in five years is ludicrous. The place is filthy, and I would remind you that our agreement stipulates that you shall keep the house in habitable repair.

I am told that the rent is not payable in full if reasonable repairs have not been done, and I am taking further advice upon the matter.

Yours faithfully,
T. SMITH.

100. To a Landlord, asking for Time to pay Rent

14 STEEL STREET, PECKHAM, S.E.15.
Jan. 21st.

DEAR SIR,

Owing to most unexpected circumstances, of which you may have heard, I regret that just at present I am unable to pay my rent for the past half year. My embarrassment is only temporary, and, as up to now payment has always been punctually made, I hope you will see your way to letting it stand over for a time.

Yours faithfully,
ADAM JONES.

101. From a Landlord in Reply, granting Time
LANSDOWNE PLACE, W.I.

Jan. 23rd.

SIR,

As you assume, I have heard reports of your embarrassments, and I think you have known me long enough to be sure that I am not likely to be unreasonable to a tenant who has always been punctual in his payments. When you can conveniently pay the last half year's rent, do so, and you may be assured that I shall not press you for it for a few months. Trusting that your difficulties will soon be satisfactorily arranged,

I remain, Yours faithfully,

JOHN SAVAGE.

102. From a Landlord in Reply, refusing Time
LANSDOWNE PLACE, W.I.

Jan. 23rd.

SIR,

I regret to hear of the difficulties of which you tell me in your letter of the 21st inst. Were it in my power to grant you time to pay the rent now overdue, I would most willingly do so ; but I have heavy and serious calls upon me at this moment, and must therefore request you to forward me the amount by return of post.

I remain, Sir, Yours obediently,

JOHN SAVAGE.

103. To a Landlord, seeking to cancel Lease
"PARK VIEW," SUTTON.

Aug. 18th.

DEAR SIR,

Business makes it necessary for me to leave Sutton at once, and it would be a convenience to me if you would consent to relieve me of the remainder of my lease. It has sixteen months to run, but I am willing to surrender it immediately, leave the house in thorough repair, as required by the agreement, and make you a cash payment for disturbance of lease. I suggest £20.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

I shall be glad to hear from you at your earliest convenience.

Yours faithfully,
P. W. PAGE.

104. From a Landlord, in Reply
48 MITRE ROAD, S.W.1.
Aug. 20th.

DEAR MR. PAGE,

I am very sorry to hear I am going to lose you as a tenant, and in the circumstances of course will not offer any obstacle to your surrendering the lease. I am afraid, however, I cannot regard £20 as adequate compensation for breaking the lease. Houses of the size and rental of "Park View" are not easily let, and in any case there are the agents' fees and other expenses. If you will pay me £50 and undertake to leave the house in thorough repair, I am prepared to cancel your lease at once.

Trusting this will meet with your approval,

I remain, Yours truly,
H. MORRIS.

105. Complaining to a Neighbour of a Nuisance
284 TABAC AVENUE, STREATHAM, S.W.16.
June 25th.

DEAR MR. BROWN,

I hope you will not think this letter is written in an unneighbourly spirit, but I want to call your attention to the very great nuisance the constant barking of your dog is to us. I know you do not realize it, and trust you will be able to take some steps to mitigate it.

Especially do we notice his barking when he is let out in the morning—he invariably wakes both my wife and myself—and again in the afternoon, when my wife is resting, and in the evening when our young children should be sleeping. Yesterday evening he was barking incessantly for an hour under our windows.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

I know you won't take offence at my writing, and my wife and I will be very much obliged to you if you can lessen the noise a little.

With kind regards, believe me,

Yours sincerely,
THOS. HAILEY.

106. Neighbour's Reply

282 TABAC AVENUE, STREATHAM, S.W.16.

June 26th.

DEAR MR. HAILEY,

I am awfully sorry you and your wife should have been annoyed by our dog. As you say, I had not realized it, or I would certainly have stopped it. The dog is young and high-spirited, but I will see that he is kept away from the front of the house as much as possible, and I think that will stop the annoyance to a large extent. It is his habit of barking at passers-by that causes the trouble.

So far from being offended, I am very much obliged to you for bringing the matter to my notice.

Yours sincerely,
H. BROWN.

107. To Inspector of Nuisances

48 FIFE ROAD, BALHAM, S.W.12.

July 1st.

The Inspector of Nuisances, Wandsworth Borough Council.

DEAR SIR,

I beg to call your attention to the dense black smoke emitted by the chimneys at the factory of Messrs. —, of —, and the very strong and nauseating smell that often accompanies it. When the wind brings it in this direction, these houses are barely habitable, and it seems to me it must be a direct menace to public health.

I have made frequent complaints to Messrs. —, but with no result, and I shall be glad to know if you can take action in the matter.

Yours faithfully,
V. JONES.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

108. Appealing against Assessment for Poor Rate

9 THE CRESCENT, RICHMOND.

Nov. 14th.

*The Clerk of the Assessment Committee,

SIR,

I beg to give notice that I wish to appeal against the assessment of this house for the Poor Rate.

The net assessment is £38, but the annual value is only £40, and with the usual reduction of 15% for repairs the appropriate assessment would be £34. This is the figure at which similar properties in this district are assessed.

I trust your Committee will be able to give the matter favourable consideration. If necessary, I can attend their next meeting personally.

I beg to remain,

Yours obediently,

L. T. STEVENS.

109. Appealing against Assessment for Income Tax

9 THE CRESCENT, RICHMOND.

Jan. 14th.

H.M. Inspector of Taxes.

SIR,

I wish to appeal against the assessment of this house at £42 for Income Tax purposes on the following grounds—

(1) The Poor Law Assessment is now £34, and I think it is usual for the Income Tax Assessment to agree with this.

(2) The annual value is £40—the rent last paid for it.

(3) The assessment is considerably higher than that of similar properties in the same road.

Trusting you will be able to give the matter favourable consideration,

I am, Sir,

Yours obediently,

L. T. STEVENS.

110. To a House Agent, inquiring for Houses

MAPLETHORPE.

May 12th.

*Messrs. White and Co.,

DEAR SIR,

I shall be obliged if you will let me have particulars of any houses to let you have on your books in the Barnes and Hammersmith districts. If you have none to let, please send me particulars of any houses you have for sale, if the purchase price does not exceed £1,000.

The accommodation I want is three or four bedrooms, two living rooms, and the usual domestic offices. Bathroom, hot and cold water, modern drainage, and electric lighting are essential. So also is a garden.

Yours faithfully,
C. I. NEWEY.

111. To a House Agent, making an Offer for a House

MAPLETHORPE.

June 15th.

*Messrs. White and Co.,

DEAR SIR,

I have now fully considered the question of buying "Manley Lodge," but still think the price asked—£1,200—exorbitant and indeed prohibitive. The installation of electric lighting and a hot water system, and redecorating throughout will cost me nearly £200, and in the circumstances the best offer I can make is £850.

If your client is willing to accept that figure, I shall be glad if you will let me know within fourteen days of to-day's date. After that, the offer must be considered withdrawn.

I may add the money will be paid in full on the transfer of the deeds.

Yours faithfully,
C. I. NEWEY.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

112. To a Landlady, inquiring for Holiday
Apartments

49 HERA ROAD, LEYTONSTONE, E.11.

June 2nd.

DEAR MADAM,

I shall be glad if you will let me know whether you have any apartments to let for the month of August. We should be a party of four—myself and my wife, my son of 19, and my daughter of 16. We should want a sitting-room, a double bed-room, and two single bedrooms, with attendance, and should be staying for four weeks from July 29th.

Please quote inclusive terms and say how far you are from the station and the sea.

I enclose stamped envelope, and an immediate answer will oblige.

Yours truly,

M. PALMER.

(5) ORGANIZING CONCERTS, &c., AND SOLICITING SUPPORT FOR CHARITIES

113. To an Artiste, asking him to sing at a Charity Concert

"MATLOW," HOLLY ROAD, BOURNEMOUTH.

Nov. 22nd.

DEAR MR. SOLO,

I am getting up a concert in aid of the local branch of the —, which is very badly in need of funds just at present. It is an excellent institution, doing most valuable work, and I think it is a great pity it should be hampered by lack of money.

I know you are interested in work of this nature, and therefore I venture to ask you, if your engagements permit, to come and sing for us.

I have taken the — Hall for June 12th. It holds 2,000, and I am hoping, if we can fill it, to raise several hundreds of pounds.

Madame Lucy, Ben Troove, Signor Maretti, and the Fairy Quartette have promised to come, but above all I want you. All the artistes, so far, are coming without fee. Please help us if you possibly can.

Yours very sincerely,
H. J. KILBY.

114. To a Friend, asking him to sell Tickets for a Concert

"MATLOW," HOLLY ROAD, BOURNEMOUTH.

Nov. 22nd.

MY DEAR WILTON,

I am getting up a concert in aid of the Cottage Hospital, which is so short of funds that it is considering closing one of its wards. It is an excellent institution, and I know its work has your deep sympathy.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

The concert will be at the — Hall on Jan. 12th, and I am enclosing herewith 12 tickets. May I count on your kind help in trying to dispose of them? I shall be more than pleased to let you have more if you need them.

The concert promises to be a very enjoyable function, Madame Lucy, Mr. Solo, Signor Maretta and other well known artistes having promised to attend.

Yours sincerely,
H. J. KILBY.

115. To a Friend, asking him to take Tickets for a
Dinner, and subscribe

THE MALL, ASHLEY.

DEAR MR. SELBY,

Feb. 3rd.

I am taking the chair at the sixty-sixth annual dinner of the — Benevolent Institution, and, as the charity is very badly in need of funds, I want to make my chairmanship notable by getting as large a list of donations as possible.

May I have the honour of including your name in my dinner list? I know that you have a vast number of calls upon you, but I know also you have a special interest in this institution, so I hope you will be able to let me have a subscription. I am heading the list with £250, and donations range from that down to five guineas. I shall not be in the least offended if you beat my figure!

I enclose two dinner tickets (price 25/- each) and need scarcely add that it would give me the greatest possible pleasure to have the support of yourself and your wife.

Believe me to be,

Yours most sincerely,
S. BAINES.

116. Solliciting a Donation

4 LOWER LANE, BEALE.

DEAR HODGES,

Aug. 5th.

I have undertaken to make a collection to help with the fund for restoring the Parish Church. You will see from the enclosed collecting card I have not been very successful so far, so be a pal and put your name down for something. It's a worthy object.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

Yours ever,
C. DOBBS.

117. Soliciting Votes in an Election for Pensions.

88, MALTHOUSE ROAD, ASTON.

Nov. 26th.

DEAR SIR,

Re ——— Pensions Fund Election.

I beg to call your attention to the claims of Edward Myatt who is a candidate for a pension in the forthcoming election of the ——— Pensions Fund. You will see from the enclosed card that he is well recommended and is in every way deserving of support. He has been a subscriber for forty-eight years and is now incapacitated from working and entirely dependent upon a married son, who is not able to do very much for him.

I am very anxious to secure his election, and I shall very gratefully receive any votes you are able to send me on his behalf.

I am, Sir,
Yours faithfully,
S. T. WHITE.

118. Soliciting Influence to place Child in Orphanage.

88, MALTHOUSE ROAD, ASTON.

March 1st.

DEAR MR. ALLEN,

I am trying to get a boy of ten, who has just lost his father in very sad circumstances, into an Orphanage. His mother is able to earn a living in domestic service if she can find a home for the lad. Do you think you could use your influence to get him into the ——— Orphanage? Believe me, it is in every way a suitable and deserving case, and the facts are well known to me.

Yours sincerely,
S. T. WHITE.

FAMILY LETTERS

119. Father to Son or Daughter at School

HALIFAX.

Jan. 17th.

DEAR FRED,

I was pleased to get your letter and to hear you are well and comfortable at school and having so much fun. I like to know you are enjoying yourself, but I was just a wee bit disappointed that there was no mention in your letter of your work. I hope that is going on well too. Have all the fun you can by all means at the proper time and in the proper spirit, but also work hard. You know how important it is. You know all we expect of you and want you to do, and the sacrifice we are making in keeping you at school, and I know you wouldn't like to disappoint us. So play hard and work hard, and make sure of leaving school with flying colours.

We are all very well. Your mother is sending you some more things in a day or two and no doubt will be writing. Don seems to miss you very much this term—he is so quiet. Write again soon, and next time don't forget to tell me where you stand in your form, and how you are progressing with Virgil.

With all our love to you,

DAD.

120. Father to Son, refusing to increase Allowance

HALIFAX.

Jan. 15th.

DEAR FRED,

I cannot possibly increase your allowance, and I am pained that you should ask. You know I could not do so without denying myself and your mother certain comforts, or being unjust to your brothers and sisters. I think your present allowance is quite adequate for all reasonable needs, and you must really keep your expenditure within it. If there is any special expense you have to incur just now, let me know, and I will see if I can help you—you know I will if I can—but I should not feel justified in making you a bigger allowance than at present. It is not necessary, and it would not be good for you.

Now, dear boy, sit down and think it over seriously. I know you will see your request is a selfish and unreasonable one, and ought not to be made.

We all send our love.

Your affectionate

FATHER.

121. Father to a Daughter unhappily married

DORKING.

May 19th.

MY DEAR DORA,

I was very much upset by reading your letter, although it contained nothing that was new to me. I have seen for some time how unhappy you are, and it has grieved your mother and me very much, as you know. You ask me to write to Tom. I have thought of doing this before, but have always doubted the wisdom of it, as interference by third parties in matrimonial differences is always liable to be misunderstood. However, I will send a note to Tom, as you wish it—just a friendly inquiry whether I can help in any way.

You write rather bitterly, and no doubt it is natural, but all the same bitterness is a mistake. You love Tom, don't you? You want to live happily with him. Then isn't it worth while trying to win him back? First sink all feelings of pride and resentfulness and anger. Then set yourself to do all you can to please your husband. Do anything that you think will make him happy and comfortable and will please him in any way. Don't ask yourself first whether he deserves it, but do it. Never mind your proper pride and self-respect and all that. You have heard of heaping coals of fire on a person's head, haven't you? Once you make Tom think of you and treat you as he did at first by being to him what you were at first, all your unhappiness may vanish and your pride won't have to suffer.

Hard? Yes, I know, dear. But isn't it worth while? Life is hard sometimes.

Your loving
FATHER.

122. Father to a Son-in-law about the Treatment of his Wife •

DORKING.
May 19th.

MY DEAR TOM,

I hope you will not take offence at what I am going to say. I am not interfering—I am just a fond old man who wants to help two young people who are very dear to him and who appear to be getting into difficulties.

I cannot fail to see that you and Dora are not so happy together as you were and ought to be. You seem to be drifting apart.

What is the matter? Can I help in any way? It makes me very sad to see you missing the perfect happiness your marriage promised to bring you. I know you are a good, sensible fellow, and I know you are very fond of Dora. Don't you think if you sit down and ask yourself seriously—"What is the matter?" it might prove helpful to you?

If I can do anything, don't fail to write to me at once.

Yours sincerely,
FATHER.

123. Son to Father, urging him to retire

INDIA.
March 28th.

MY DEAR DAD,

I was very pleased to get your last letter, but somewhat disturbed—not so much at what you said, but at what I imagined lay behind your words. I know you must often find the business very trying now. You are not a young man, and you are no longer strong enough for such an arduous task. Why not give it up? You have had your share of work, and I think it is quite time you took life more easily. Think of the happy time you and Mother might have in a nice little house somewhere in the country or by the sea! I know what you will say—you cannot afford it. I have answered that before, and now I am going to insist that you let me have my way. When you have sold the business, you can invest the money you obtain for it to bring in a regular income, and I am going to make you an allowance of £200 a year. I can well afford it. I am doing extremely well here, and I want to do it. Now don't deny me the pleasure any longer. You know you would do as much for me—indeed have done in the past much more.

THE GENTLEMEN'S LETTER-WRITER

Talk it over with Mother and let me know what you both think. I think I had better write to Mother too—she is not so obstinate as you.

My fondest love to you both.

Your loving son,
DICK.

124. Uncle to Nephew at School

"THE NOOK," BASINGSTOKE.

March 14th.

DEAR FRED,

How do you find things at school just now? I heard from your father you have been distinguishing yourself in the sports. First in the mile, wasn't it? Bravo! I hope you're taking good care of the cup. I used to be able to run a mile in pretty good time myself once. I could beat your father, and when you come home for the holidays I've a good mind to get into training again and see if I can't beat you. What do you say?

I hope the lessons are going well too. They're not so interesting perhaps as the sports, but you'll find them useful later on.

I enclose a small postal order which I have no doubt you will find a good use for.

With love from your aunt and myself,

Your affectionate uncle,
J. H. MAYNE.

The TENANT agrees with the LANDLORD as follows :

2. To pay the said yearly rent at the times and in manner aforesaid without any deduction or abatements whatsoever And also to pay all rates taxes and assessments payable in respect of the said premises (Landlord's property tax only excepted.)

3. To use and occupy the said premises as a private dwellinghouse only and during the tenancy to keep and maintain the said premises together with all fixtures thereon or which may be added thereto in good and tenantable repair and condition and so deliver up the same at the expiration or sooner determination of the said term (damage by fire excepted).

4. Not to underlet assign or part with possession of the said premises or any part thereof without the previous consent in writing of the Landlord (such consent not to be unreasonably refused or withheld in the case of a respectable or responsible person) or exhibit any bill or placard of any description on any part of the said premises or carry on therein any art trade manufacture or business whatsoever.

5. Not to make or permit any erection whatever upon or alteration in the said premises or any part thereof or keep or expose any goods for sale in or upon the said premises or hold or permit any public sale or auction therein or thereupon without the written consent of the Landlord first had and obtained or do or suffer any act or thing which may be or become a nuisance damage or annoyance to the Landlord or his tenants or the owners lessees or occupiers of any of the neighbouring premises or which would invalidate the insurance of the said premises against damage by fire or increase the usual rate of premium.

6. To allow the Landlord or any person duly authorised by him at reasonable times to enter the said premises to inspect the same and to make good all defects found and
